AWARDS TO ARTISTS

THE CLARE HART DEGOLYER MEMORIAL FUND

THE ARCH AND ANNE GILES KIMBROUGH FUND

THE OTIS AND VELMA DAVIS DOZIER TRAVEL GRANT

AWARDS TO ARTISTS

The Clare Hart DeGolyer Memorial Fund and The Arch and Anne Giles Kimbrough Fund were created at the Dallas Museum of Art in 1980 for the purpose of recognizing exceptional talent and potential in young visual artists. Both funds seek applicants who show a commitment to continuing their artistic endeavors. In 1990 The Otis and Velma Davis Dozier Travel Grant was created to honor the memory of Dallas artists Otis and Velma Davis Dozier, who strongly believed in the enriching influence of travel on an artist's work. The grant seeks to recognize exceptional talent in professional artists who wish to expand their artistic horizons through domestic or foreign travel.

Award recipients are selected by a special committee composed of Dallas Museum of Art staff and art professionals that may include curators, critics, collectors, and artists. If, in the opinion of the special committee, no applicants merit the awards, there shall be no obligation on the funds to grant an award in that year.

The grants are not available for college or art school tuition or for travel specifically for the purpose of career promotion. Immediate family members of Museum staff or trustees are not eligible to apply. An artist is eligible to win each award only once. Telephone enquiries may be directed to 214-922-1334.

THE DEGOLYER FUND Eligible artists must (a) be between fifteen and twenty-five years of age, (b) have lived in the southwestern part of the United States (Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Arizona, or Colorado) for the past four years, and (c) currently reside there.
